The article considers the problem of moral action and moral choice. The conclusion is that moral action is the result of the microshift in interaction of the inward man forces (mind, will and faith) when thinking and decision making in favor of one or another system of symbolic representation of reality, where the forces of good and evil confront each other. The ethics of responsibility signifies a stage of state active participation in the prosperity and peaceful coexistence of people and nations. Thereby the problem of moral responsibility of the person is not eliminated of people and nations. And the problem of moral responsibility of the person is thereby solved.

Keywords: welfare, justice, practical benefits, ethics of responsibility, the vital choice of young people, moral action.
