Problems of Teaching Foreign Stylistic Competence in Business English Based on Collocation Combinatorics

© L.A. Ivanova

Bauman Moscow State Technical University, Moscow, 105005, Russia

The article examines the aspects associated with the importance of learning terminological collocations in Business English.

The paper highlights their special significance for non-native speakers in cross-cultural communication

The paper contains both theoretical and practical sections, presents information about terminological collocations in Business English and focuses on the awareness of the collocation existence in the target language. The article also contains the examples of exercises which can be used by the teachers of the Business English.

Keywords: collocation, Business English, cross-cultural communication, communicative competence, business environment.

Ivanova L.A., Assoc. Professor of the English Language for the Instrument-Making Specialties Department of Bauman Moscow State Technical University. Sphere of scientific interests: methods of teaching business English. e-mail lioudmilai@yandex.ru